INTRODUCTION

THIS Register of Tinnevelly Clergy is intended to include all clergy of (or in connection with) the Church of England, now the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon, who have resided and worked within the area of the present diocese of Tinnevelly. Part I, however, includes all bishops who have had charge of Tinnevelly; and Part II all missionaries and Indian ministers who either visited or worked in Tinnevelly and Ramnad from 1776 to 1820. Chaplains who while residing at Trichinopoly held visiting charge of Dindigul, Madura and Kodaikanal, have not been included.

No exact system of transliteration of Tamil names of persons or places has been followed; variations which seemed to the compiler unnecessary and merely confusing have often been suppressed, but, particularly in the case of those now living, the transliteration used by the person himself has in general been followed.

More serious and largely unavoidable confusion arises from the fact that while some Tamil Christians follow the English custom of using their father's name as a surname and calling themselves by it, the general custom is to use a personal name, to which the father's name is added as a second name. In some cases, moreover, a man's style is altered by himself, or by others who speak of him, so that, e.g., at one period of life a man may be called E. Asirvatham, and at another A. Edward. Much more detailed enquiry than has been possible would be necessary to remove all errors of this nature; the compiler can only apologize for those which doubtless exist.

For the earliest period of missionary work in Tinnevelly much use has been made of Bishop Caldwell's History of the Tinnevelly Mission, supplemented by direct research in the original sources; for the period from 1820 to 1900, the C. M. S. Register of Missionaries and Clergy and the lists in Mr. C. F. Pascoe's Two Hundred Years of the S. P. G. have been used as a basis, and the quarterly or annual reports of the two societies worked through to give fuller details. Acknowledgments are due to the Madras Diocesan Registrar's office, and to a number of correspondents, both within the diocese and elsewhere, who have given information. But in a regrettably large number of cases there are still gaps, and sometimes serious ones, in the summaries of life and work.

In the hope that a revised edition may some day be issued, and in any case to complete and correct the copy of the Register which will be kept in the Bishop's office, it is requested that information of all corrections and additions be sent to the Bishop's Chaplain, Bishopstowe, Palamcottah, S. India.

PART I

BISHOPS OF TINNEVELLY

The diocese of Calcutta, founded in 1814, included the whole of India and Ceylon, besides the other British settlements in Eastern Asia, and those in Australasia and at the Cape of Good Hope.

The first bishop of Madras was consecrated in 1835, and in 1877 the Revs. Robert Caldwell and Edward Sargent were consecrated as assistant bishops for the S. P. G. and C. M. S. congregations in Tinnevelly respectively.

In 1896, the Rev. Samuel Morley was consecrated as Bishop of Tinnevelly and Madura, the diocese, though legally remaining part of the diocese of Madras, being administered as independently as the law allowed by commission from the Bishop of Madras and by consensual compact. In 1910, the Ramnad zamindari was formed into a Collectorate together with certain parts of north Tinnevelly, and the diocese became known as that of Tinnevelly, Ramnad and Madura.

On the legal severance of the Church of England in India from the Church of England, and the coming into force of the Constitution, Canons and Rules of the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon in March 1930, the diocese became ecclesiastically and legally distinct from the diocese of Madras, under the title of Tinnevelly.

PART II

MISSIONARIES AND INDIAN MINISTERS OF THE TRANQUEBAR MISSION AND THE S. P. C. K.

NOTE.—The following list is certainly incomplete in respect of early workers in the present Ramnad district. The Tranquebar Mission began preaching and formed some congregations in 'the Marava country' at an early date; for instance, Aaron, the first Indian minister ordained by the Tranquebar Mission (in 1733) visited the district in 1736. It is hoped that further research in the series of Reports of the Mission may lead to a clearer knowledge of when and through whom congregations were formed in that part of the Marava country, including Ramnad, which at a later date fell within the sphere of the S. P. G.

The places mentioned as being visited are only those in which there were Christian congregations.
